Types of courses being offered / Cineálacha cúrsaí:

Tertiary Degrees

A Tertiary Degree is a new pathway from Further Education and Training which supports a seamless progression into Higher Education to earn an undergraduate degree at Level 8.

- ▶ Applicants do not rely on CAO points. Tertiary Degrees provide students with an alternative entry route to the CAO point system.
- ▶ Entry requirements require applicants to submit documentation to support their application to the course.
- ▶ Once enrolled on a tertiary degree programme students can seamlessly progress without further reapplication from Level 5 to Level 8.
- ▶ Typically, students will complete the first two years (Level 5 and 6) within a college of further education (i.e., Ballyfermot Road), and the remaining two years (Level 7 and 8) with a higher education partner.
- ▶ Students can avail of the Higher Education SUSI grant with includes both a maintenance grant and a fees grant.

The Immersive Media Production BA (Hons) degree which the college offers in partnership with Dún Laoghaire Institute of Art, Design and Technology (IADT) is an example of a tertiary degree.

There are currently over 40 courses available for 2025 in Business, ICT, Arts, Engineering, Manufacturing & Construction and Health & Welfare. A full list of tertiary degrees is available at nto.heai.ie/courses

Traineeships

Traineeships are courses developed in partnership with industry experts to address skills shortages in the Irish economy and can also be used by learners to re-train in a totally new area or upskill.

- ▶ Traineeships are 1-year (48 weeks) in duration with work placement for 12 weeks arranged in either a continuous block or throughout the year.
- ▶ Students on traineeships in the college attend like all other students. They gain specific industry insights into their vocational area from guest lectures.
- ▶ Students gain additional sectoral training and extended work experience from the college's partner companies where they can demonstrate that they are work ready and available for employment.
- ▶ There are no course fees and trainees can retain any DSP payments they currently have, as well as receiving a modest travel allowance.
- ▶ Trainees enhance their work experience and skills by learning with industry experts and become work ready and available for employment.
- ▶ Trainees have the opportunity to apply for Erasmus+ and gain work experience abroad. On completion trainees can progress to further studies on any of the higher education programmes aligned to their vocational area.

The college currently offers six traineeship courses at Level 5 and 6 in varying disciplines including Logistics and Distribution; Advanced Skills for Visual Effects, Video and Animation Post-Production; Multi-Camera and Documentary Production; Applied Politics and Leadership; Accountancy and Payroll (ACCA); and Traditional Irish Music and Instrument Making.

Post Leaving Certificate Courses

Post Leaving Certificate (PLC) courses are full-time courses for students who have finished post-primary school (second-level education) and for adults who wish to return to education.

- ▶ PLC courses are for one academic year, however students who successfully complete a PLC course at Level 5 can progress to an additional year at Level 6, for example: Business Studies Level 5 progress to Business Analytics with Entrepreneurship Level 6
- ▶ PLC courses develop students technical and practical skills for an industry-recognised qualification.
- ▶ They can also offer students a progression route into higher education. Under the Higher Education Links scheme, places on selected courses in Higher Educational Institutes are allocated on the basis of attainment achieved in awards by candidates on PLC courses. Progression details are available for each PLC course offered by the college.
- ▶ The maintenance grant is applicable to PLC students who qualify. The maintenance scheme is means tested and grants are paid along the same lines as the current third level student support schemes.

The college offers over 50 PLC courses at Level 5 and 6 in varying disciplines including art, design, illustration, animation, games design, digital media, digital marketing film, TV, business, social care, health and childcare.

Back to Education Initiative

The Back to Education Initiative (BTEI) provides part-time further education courses mainly for young people and adults who have not completed the Leaving Certificate or an equivalent qualification.

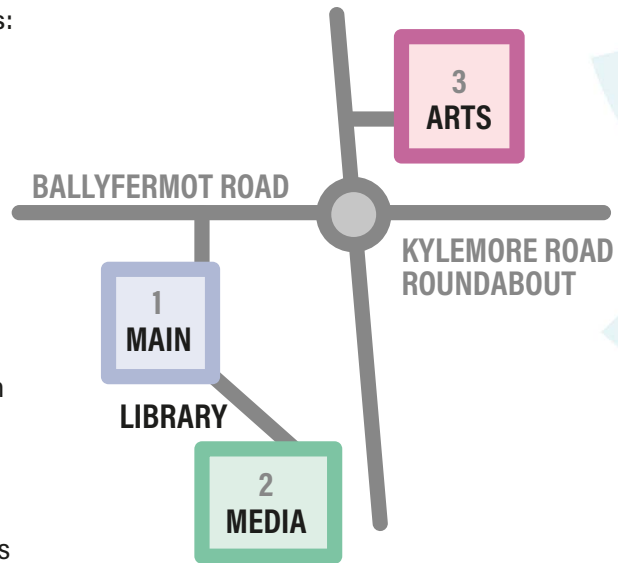

- ▶ BTEI courses give students the opportunity to combine learning with family, work and other responsibilities. Anyone who has left full-time education can participate, but priority will be given to those without a Leaving Certificate.
- ▶ BTEI courses are usually level 3 and 4 on the National Qualification Framework (NFQ). The BTEI allows students to study part-time (up to 400 hours per year). It is also possible to get a major award at NFQ levels 1-6 when part-time courses are combined to complete a major award.
- ▶ Funding while completing a BTEI course is dependent on individual student welfare situations. Students should contact the administration office or email info@bcfe.cdetsb.ie for more information.

The college offers over two BTEI pathways at Level 4, one pathway is a general learning pathway to prepare students for further learning in different fields of study, and the other is a pathway is a preparation for further study in healthcare with an optional module to assist students with English for speakers of other languages (ESOL).

The Washington Ireland Program (WIP) / Clár Éireann Washington

Media Production Management (MPM) graduate, Daithí O'Toole spent the summer of 2024 as a media intern with FedNet, www.fednet.net a professional broadcast news organisation that is based in Washington, and has been covering Capitol Hill since 1994. Daithí was selected from over 300 applicants to participate in the Washington Ireland Program (WIP). For over two decades, the WIP has played an important role in post-conflict Ireland by bringing together young leaders from a wide range of communities and backgrounds for its leadership and skills-development program.

Daithí found the WIP experience life-changing, "in the few weeks, I feel I have gained a lifetime of valuable skills and lessons, A memorable moment for me was filming a press conference of Majority Leader, Charles Schumer and the CEO of Boeing addressing the US Senate. I am truly grateful for all of the experiences I have had so far. Thank you to the WIP and the entire class of 2024 for being a summer I will truly never forget."

Daithi decided to start his third level education journey after school with Further Education and Training (FET) by doing a Post Leaving Certificate (PLC) course in QQI level 5 in Business and Digital Marketing, which was followed by a BTEC Higher National Certificate in Business and a QQI level 6 in Business and HR Management, and the BA (Hons) Media Production Management at City of Dublin FET College Ballyfermot, Ballyfermot Road, Southwest Campus, Daithi's journey highlights the value of FET in providing a variety of endless opportunities at local level that can take you where you want to go after school. By embracing his love for continuous learning, Daithi discovered a pathway that not only prepared him academically, but also gave him the time and environment to grow personally and professionally.

Leading Sustainability and Environmental Awareness / Ag treorú inbhuanaitheacht agus tuiscint chomhshaoil

City of Dublin FET College, Ballyfermot, Southwest Campus, stands out as a pioneering institution in promoting sustainability and environmental awareness. This commitment is vividly reflected through various initiatives and events aimed at fostering a green consciousness within the college community and beyond.

The Inaugural Climate Justice and Sustainability Event

In March 2024, the college hosted its first Climate Justice and Sustainability Event, marking a significant step in its sustainability journey. The event featured Senator Lynn Boylan, an advocate for climate justice, and Eric Dempsey, a renowned wildlife expert. Their discussions covered pressing issues like biodiversity and the urgent need for climate action, providing attendees with valuable insights into the environmental challenges facing our world today.

Paul McGrattan traditional Irish Music Co-Ordinator, spoke about his students' role in leading research and development into producing sustainable parts for traditional musical instruments. Tony Walker, student of Irish Traditional Music Performance and Traineeship in Instrument Making, Repair and Maintenance spoke of his specific research into developing chanters for the uilleann pipes. This was followed by a live performance by students from the traditional Irish music course.

The event was a holistic celebration of sustainability. The day concluded with an art exhibition titled "Our Human Nature," which visually communicated the intricate relationship between humans and nature, emphasizing the need for harmony and respect for our environment.

Lynn Boylan (MEP)

Integrating Sustainability into Education and Culture

The college's approach to sustainability extends beyond single events. The college is embedding green principles into its curriculum and campus culture. By integrating environmental education into various courses, the college ensures that students from all disciplines understand and appreciate the importance of sustainability. This multidisciplinary approach equips students with the knowledge and skills needed to contribute to a more sustainable future, regardless of their chosen fields.

The college's efforts are not limited to academic pursuits. The college actively promotes sustainable practices on campus with a managed biodiversity meadow for insects and other pollinators. In the college's biodiversity meadow, mowing is in line with All-Ireland Pollinator Plan guidelines, geared towards biodiversity. Other initiatives such as waste separation for recycling, energy conservation promotion with short courses for students certified by the SEAI and promoting the use of public transportation reflect the college's commitment to reducing its environmental footprint. These initiatives not only make the campus more sustainable but also serve as practical examples for students, instilling in them the importance of everyday environmental responsibility.

Community Engagement and Outreach

The college also recognises the importance of community involvement in achieving sustainability goals. By hosting environmental awareness events across curriculum areas, the college fosters a culture of environmental awareness and activism that extends beyond its campus, encouraging broader societal change. These efforts not only benefit the immediate college community, but also contribute to the global movement for environmental sustainability and justice.

College Winners of the 2024 RTS Award for Animation

College Animation Short, Tooth Be Told, won the Animation category at the Royal Television Society (Ireland) Students Awards for 2024.

Tooth Be Told was screened at the IFI at the college's Annual Graduate Showcase in May 2023, and is currently entered into many different national and international film and animation festivals. The team of four Animation (Visual Media) BA (Hons) Degree students behind 'Tooth Be Told' are: Sarah Enright (Direction), Andrew Guiding (Animation), Mihai Rosca (VFX), and Shannon Hegarty (Backgrounds and Storyboarding).

Principal Cecilia Munro accepts the RTS Award for Best Animation at the RTS Student Awards last night at the RTE studios in Donnybrook.

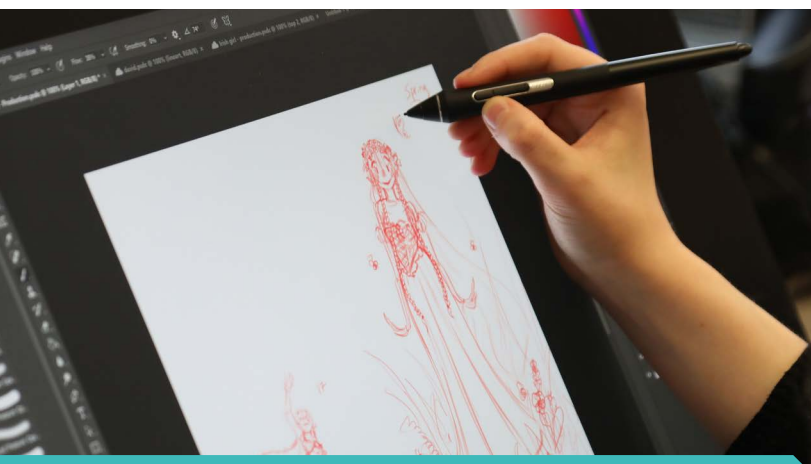

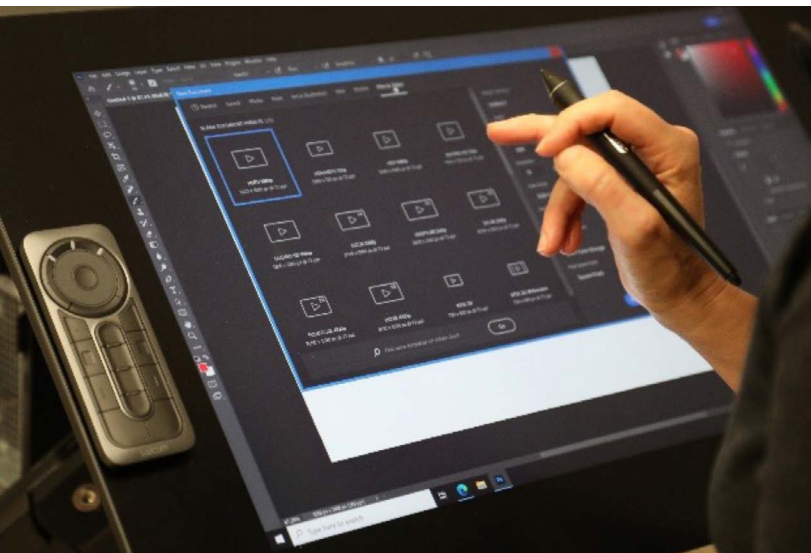

COLLEGE LEARNING WITH CINTIQ DRAWING TABLETS

The college has upgraded two digital animation studios with Cintiq Drawing Tablets.

The college students are using these tablets to draw images for animation in a paperless environment and to animate these images using the latest industry standard software.

A Cintiq is a computer input device that enables a user to hand-draw images, animations and graphics, with a special pen-like stylus, similar to the way a person draws images with a pencil and paper.

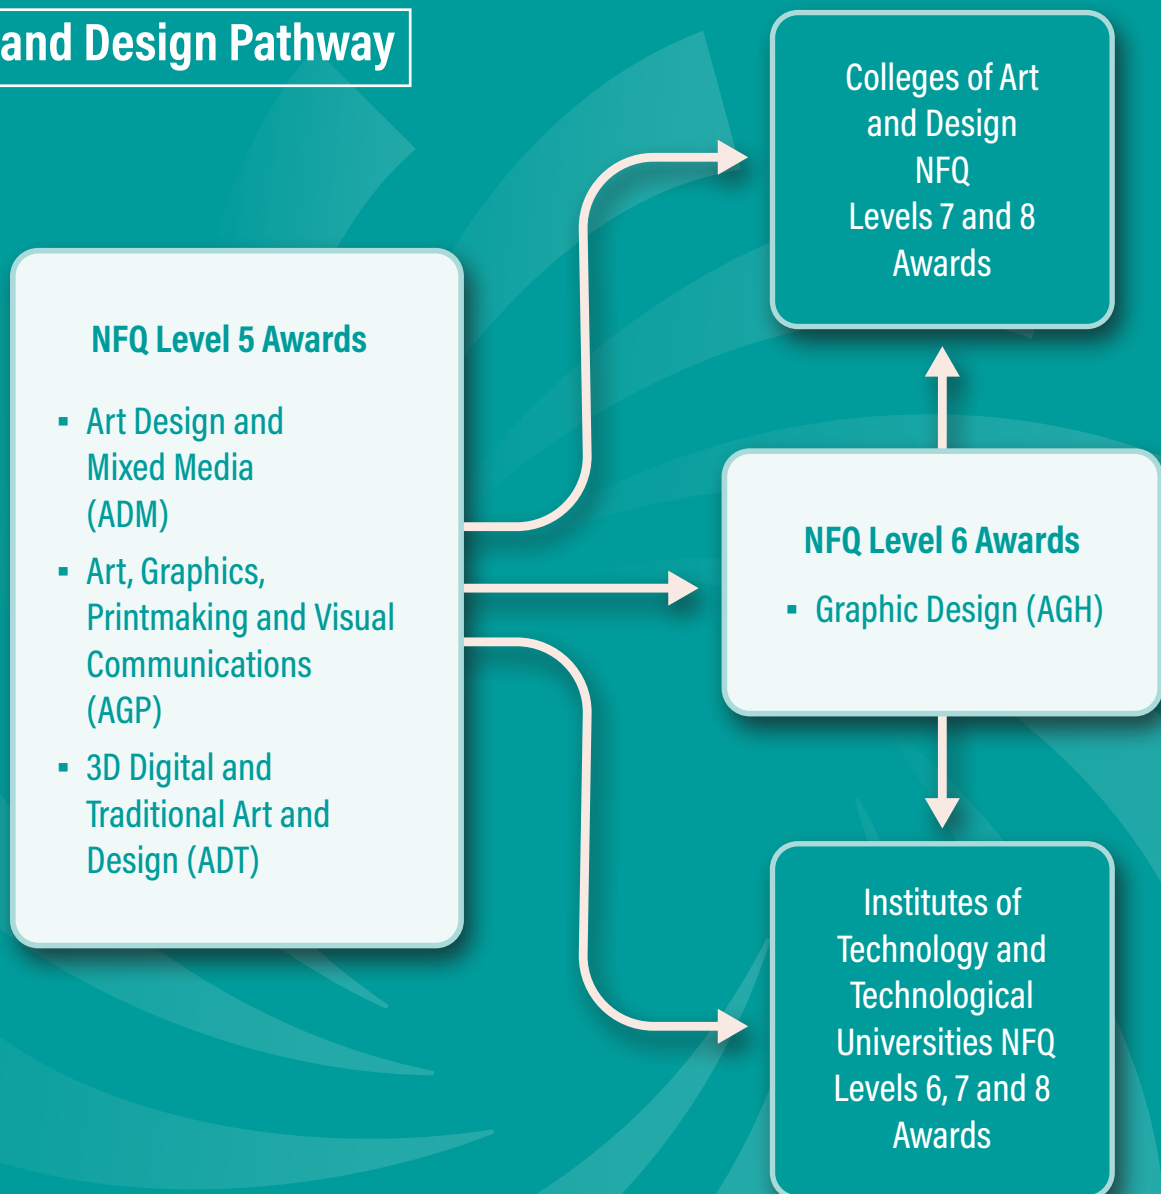

Using the new suite of Cintiqs as part of college learning prepares students for the hardware and software they will encounter in animation studios. Paperless animation on Cintiqs is the modern approach to hand-drawn animation. Where once every frame of a character's movement was drawn on paper, and then inked on cels or scanned into software for the final ink and paint, animation is now more often done directly using digital graphics tablets.

Being a student of Illustration at this college was both a challenging and enjoyable experience. The course helped me improve my artistic skills as well as develop my career professionally.

It has broadened my horizons and prepared me to continue forward in this field. I found the staff and tutors to be friendly, supportive and highly skilled. In my final year, I completed an Erasmus+ placement in Malta

Carla Rodera

HND in Illustration (AIH) graduate.

I completed both the Animation Drawing Studies (CDS) course and the HND in Illustration (AIH) and I am so grateful for everything I learned while attending this college. I was given direction and feedback by tutors, but was also given the freedom to explore my own style and ideas. This means everyone has graduated with a completely unique and original portfolio.

I loved the supportive and honest environment in the college and I knew I could ask my peers for advice and critiques when I needed it. I also gained the opportunity to participate in the Erasmus+ programme in February 2020 where I worked as an illustrator for the Esplora Science Museum in Malta. My work improved so much during my three years at the college and so has my confidence in pursuing my dream career.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

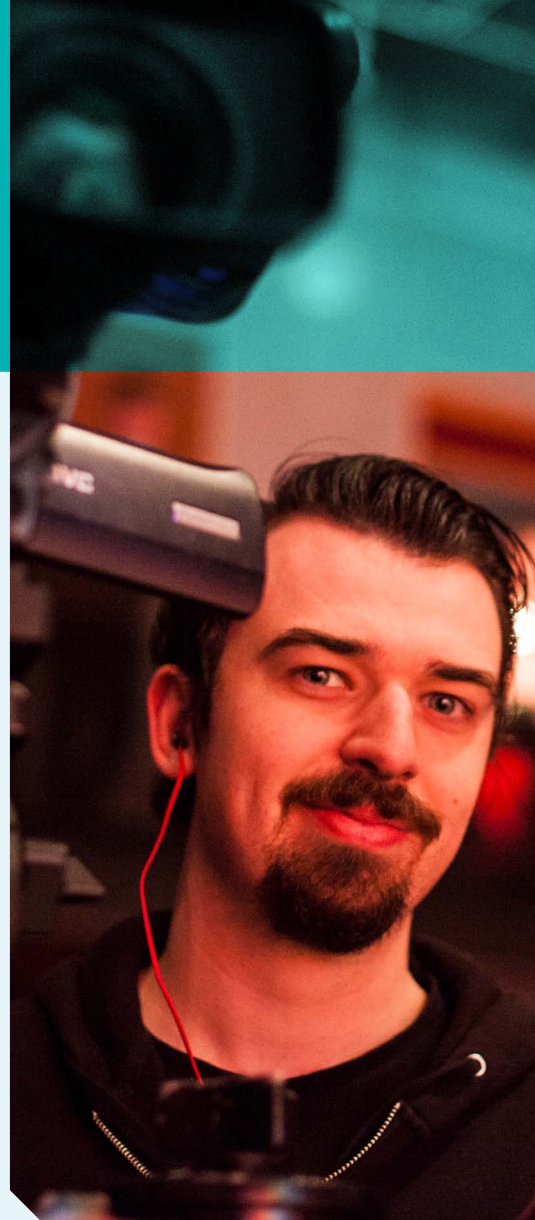

The experience I gained from attending City of Dublin FET College, Ballyfermot, Southwest Campus has been incredibly helpful to me gaining employment in the television industry. Studying TV and Digital Film, level 5 (ITC), and Television Production and Operations, level 6 (ITH) gives students an advantage once they begin to look for work in a practical focused industry such as television and video production.

The college offered us the chance to work on projects for clients outside the college where you gain invaluable experience on projects that must meet industry standard. I was lucky enough to produce content for companies like Radio Nova and film live shows in venues all over Dublin like the National Concert Hall, Button Factory, Workman's Club and the Grand Social to name a few.

The tutors have exceptional knowledge of their subject areas. They genuinely care about their students.

Evan Baker

From the supportive, friendly and knowledgeable teaching and college staff, I received a great foundation in the skills I needed to communicate my stories and begin my journey into the industry. Some highlights from the year were the end of year exhibition of our films and photography, taking part in script read-throughs and gaining invaluable teamwork experience.

I was able to use my short film "Victim", which I made as part of the course, to successfully secure a place in the Film and Television Production course in IADT where I'm continuing my education. For the same film I was also nominated for the Student award for Best Drama in The Royal Television Society Awards for the Republic of Ireland. Given that this was my very first film, I was extremely pleased with the nomination, and am thankful to this college for providing me with these opportunities.

ADVANCED SKILLS FOR VISUAL EFFECTS, VIDEO AND ANIMATION POST PRODUCTION TRAINEESHIP

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

The basic foundations, especially life drawing, that I learned at City of Dublin FET College Ballyfermot, Ballyfermot Rd | Kylemore Rd, Southwest Campus were instrumental in my career, as they taught me how to truly look at a subject.

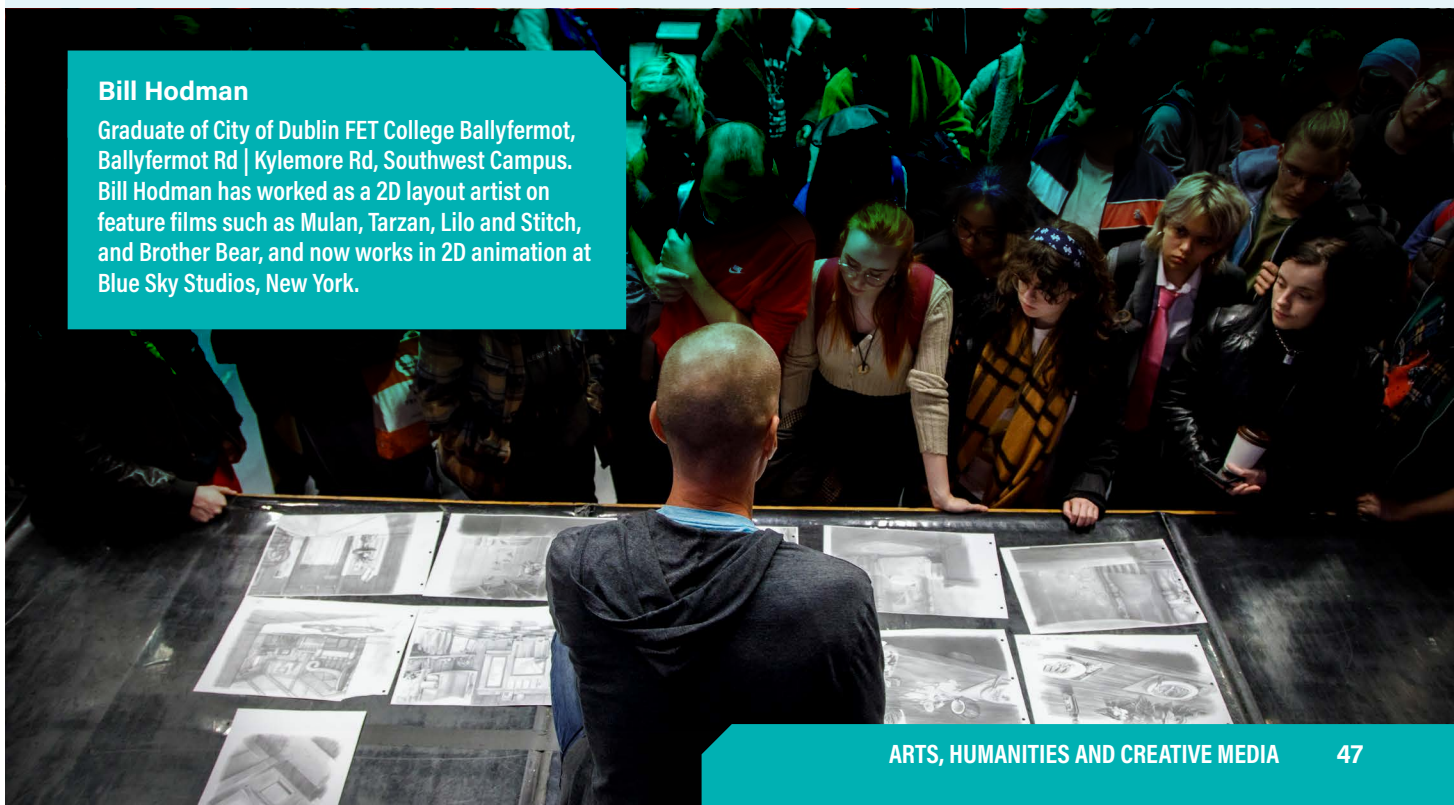

The connections I made in the college, ... and hearing first-hand about industry experience and what to expect in the industry, what it's like in the day to day work, also has had a huge impact in my career, especially the focus on making and maintaining relationships in the industry based on mutual respect, understanding and the ability to work and help each other as a team.

The portfolio reviews the college provided from outside companies ... were also very helpful in knowing what they were looking for in an employee, and that they look for and want to see your own individual style and personal projects in those portfolios along with your regular coursework.

Bill Hodman

Graduate of City of Dublin FET College Ballyfermot, Ballyfermot Rd | Kylemore Rd, Southwest Campus. Bill Hodman has worked as a 2D layout artist on feature films such as Mulan, Tarzan, Lilo and Stitch, and Brother Bear, and now works in 2D animation at Blue Sky Studios, New York.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

This journalism course gave me the confidence, courage and knowledge to pursue a career in journalism. I landed an internship at a women's digital media publication in 2017 and was promoted to Deputy Editor of three websites, including Shemazing.net in 2019. I've been able to interview all kinds of people thanks to the skills I developed during my two years attending courses and studying in the college. The course is hands-on, practical and gives you a strong understanding of the industry and will strengthen your love of writing and storytelling.

Kat O'Connor

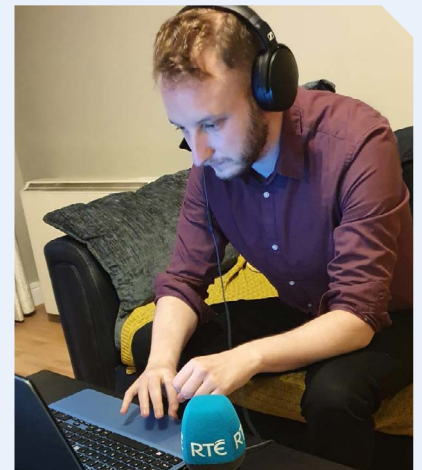

Staff Editor at Her.ie, Journalism (MJH) graduate.

Ballyfermot Road, Southwest Campus helped to shape my understanding of the Irish media landscape and its different news values.

During the two-year Diploma in Journalism we created a student newspaper, the Student Chronicle. While working on the paper I discovered I really enjoyed working in a news environment, the thrill of trying to find stories, getting interviews and seeing the finished product. Without this college I wouldn't be where I am today. I can't recommend the college enough for anyone who is looking to work in journalism.

Oisín Ó Cuilleanáin

Multimedia Journalist, RTE, Journalism (MJH) and BA in Media Production Management (MPM) graduate.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

I'm Michaela Hayes and I completed the 1-year Media and Broadcasting (MND), the 2- year Radio and Podcasting (MRH) and the Media Production Management BA (HONS) Degree courses in this college.

The 1-year MND course helped me decide which area of media interested me most. I then found the 2-year radio course exceptional, so hands on and gives you a huge amount of real-world radio experience. Experienced lecturers, connected with the radio industry was the reason I managed to get my foot in the door of the radio world.

Since leaving college I have worked in many stations: presenting the Irish language shows and daily features on Radio Nova; managing and presenting on Christmas FM and working as a music director on iRadio. I am currently presenting the 10am-3pm show across the Spin Radio Network.

Contemporary Music Performance Pathway

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

The college offered me the space to start writing songs myself. In addition, I got the chance to experience and learn about live performance in a band setting. I've experienced so much creativity, so many talented musicians with unique styles and what spoke to me the most was the support of artistry.

The main focus lay on every artist being unique and refining their individual styles instead of making them into something they are actually not.

Vera Gsenger
Musician and Performer, Contemporary Music Performance (PRH) graduate.

During my two years of study in this college, I found myself immersed in all things music and I really loved every minute of it. I came out at the end a more confident and knowledgeable musician. I started playing the bouzouki during my time on this course and it was a solid foundation I needed for the music career that lay ahead of me. For that I thank all the lecturers on the Ceoltóir course for their continued support.

Community and Social Services Progression Pathway

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

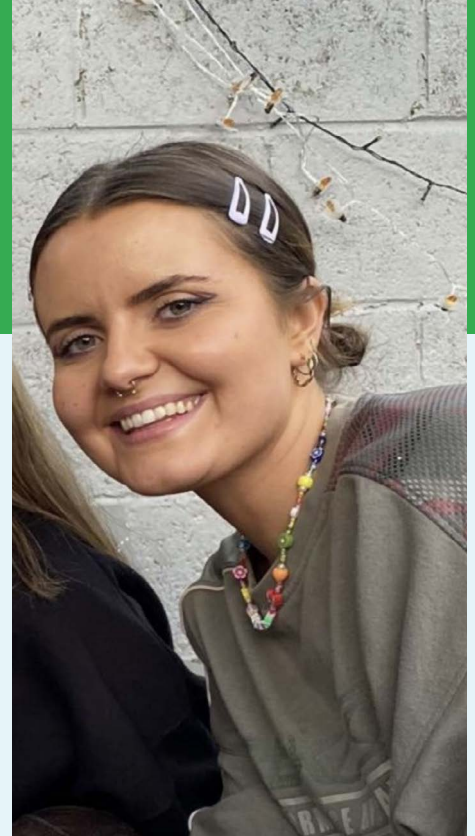

I completed the Social and Vocational Integration QQI Level 6 course in 2020. The support and encouragement myself and my fellow classmates received from the course coordinator and teachers throughout the year was outstanding!

This course pointed me in the right direction in terms of what I wanted to do with my future. It gave me a taste of so many different aspects of social care; and although the workload could be tough sometimes.

I highly recommend this course; it was a wonderful experience and I have grown both as an individual and as a professional because of it.

Róisín Meenan

Social Care Studies (SVC) graduate

In September 2023 I took a career break to attend the Nursing Studies, (General, Paediatrics and Midwifery) course. My aim was to get the required certificate to work as a Maternity Care Assistant (MCA) in a maternity hospital. I was a mature student and I thought that it was going to be hard to mix with the other students but everyone in my class was nice and welcoming.

The teachers were absolutely amazing, not only did they help me academically to complete my course, but they also helped me personally.

After completing the course I joined an agency and worked as a healthcare assistant (HCA) in various hospitals for a few months. I then secured a MCA position in the Rotunda Hospital in March 2025.

I highly recommend City of Dublin FET College, Ballyfermot, Southwest Campus, it is a great college to get your certificate, and the teachers are very encouraging.

Susana Navarro- Garcia

Nursing Studies, (General, Paediatrics and Midwifery, (SPN) graduate

GRADUATE LIFE

The Nursing Studies (SPN) course shaped me into the nurse I am today. It gave me the foundations I needed to get my degree in nursing and go on to have the varied career in nursing, from general ward nursing to critical care and now to my current role in a GP practice. To this very day I still use the skills and the patient centred mindset I acquired at Ballyfermot Southwest Campus.

The teaching and practical hands-on experience I got on the course stood to me in brilliant stead to go on to do my nursing degree at Robert Gordon University in Scotland and also gave me a great head start on other students.

As a newly graduated nurse I worked in a covid ward during the pandemic for a year. I then moved to intensive care in a major trauma hospital in the northeast of Scotland and stayed for 3 years. I recently moved to general practice nursing, and have been enjoying it. I am excited to complete my certificates in Chronic Disease Management, and in Hypertension. I look forward to completing the NMC independent nurse prescribing course in the near future.

Since qualifying as a staff nurse in 2020 I have been nominated for two Daisy Awards and an Orange Award for outstanding and compassionate care given to patients.

COLLEGE NURSING SUITE

The College has installed a highly resourced modern nursing suite, which simulates a 2 bedded hospital ward with an interactive teaching room.

This suite facilitates the teaching and learning of a wide range of practical nursing, midwifery, paediatric and healthcare skills which will support students to work in a wide variety of healthcare settings.

Under the direction and supervision of your clinical nurse/midwife practitioner, you will engage in and practice infection prevention and control techniques, measuring and recording of vital signs, bed making, patient positioning and pressure area care.

You will use a range of medical and healthcare equipment such as thermometers, oximeters, blood pressure monitors, urine and blood glucose monitoring equipment, feeding equipment, mobility aids, medical waste disposal equipment, and much more. Importantly, you will learn and practice the essentials of maternity and pediatric care.

As a student you will also learn how to support a patient in their many activities of daily living such as washing and dressing, eating and drinking, while using supportive communication skills. This learning experience prepares students for work experience placements, further study and future work within nursing, midwifery, paediatrics and the healthcare sector.
